Why for the only?

A Checklist For the needy of course. Once considered a luxury for the rich and famous, satellite television has become a competitive industry, making it an affordable option for just about everyone. Nowadays, with more than 20 millions subscribers in total, satellite TV broadcasting had become one of the fastest growing home products in United States. The fact is for recent years, the expansion rate of satellite TV had beaten cable TV greatly.. Recent polls show some common reasons being superior picture quality, larger selection of channels and programs, increased availability, good customer service and the continuing drop in price. However, with any hot product come the scammers. Thousands of "Free Satellite TV" websites have popped up; claiming to offer the best satellite TV deals and promotions. Most of these scams offer a fake promise on their deals. Extremely low monthly subscription rates, next-day installation, and unlimited number of free satellite systems are some of the common promotion terms. Copyright ©2009 (Canada) FTA Chat FTA Forums I will now start discussing some terms you may come across when your first starting that you aren't familiar with. IRD -this stands for Integrated Receiver Decoder. This is just a fancy word for your receiver that most people use because IRD is easier to type than Receiver. There are many different models of IRDs which have different features. CAM -this stands for Conditional Access Module. Again, this is a fancy name for your smart card that comes with your receiver. There are three different versions of smart cards: ROM 2, ROM 3 and ROM 10. ROM 2 CAMs can be read and written to using a smart card reader. ROM 3 CAMs were introduced later on because of added security features. If your ROM 3 hasn't been in the stream for a while (since July 2001 for Dish Network) it may be open and you may be able to read and write it. ROM 10s are the latest and they are closed at the factory so currently you can't read or write to a ROM 10 and the use of an AVR board is required.

EEPROM -this stands for Electrically Erasable Programmable Read-Only Memory. When you hear the term EEPROM when testing, it's most likely either referring to either a chip inside your IRD that holds personal settings such as favourite lists, passwords, etc.. The EEPROM inside your IRD has been a target by Dish Network and possibly in an attempt to combat piracy. There are methods two lock your EEPROM and opinions vary on if this is a good idea or not. There will be a guide on how to perform this lock on this website. The other reference to EEPROM is the 24LC256 chip on newer AVR boards that allows for autoroll.
